Frenchy May Not Be the Ripper Who Butchered Old Shakespeare,

New York's Detective Force on Trial Before the World.

Byrnes's Proof Is Lacking on Important Points.

Impressions Formed on a Visit to the Prisoner in the Tombs.

Police Secrecy Seals Up the Murder Stained Rooms.

Is the prisoner now locked in the Tomb New York's Jack the Ripper? This is a question that is interesting whole community. It is possible that he is. Anything is pos murderer of Carrie Brown they are saving it left in doubt. There is more at stake in this case than the ordinary apprehension of a murderer. The reputation of our detective for is in question. We made a great vaunt when Scotland Yard failed to apprehend the perpetrator of the Whitechapel murders. Now Scotland Yard, and, indeed, every detective force in the world is looking towards ours.

Briefly summarized, here is the case as it now stands: On the night of Thursday, April 48, an old woman accompanied by a younger man took a room on the top fleor of the East Hiver Hotel. The man signed the register. He was seen by several habitues of the place. The next morning the old woman was found dead in hed backed in a most brutal manner. The detective that ever lived. He has worked unceasingly, night and day, on this theory since the murder was found out, and the way in which he has ferreted out and followed every straw that pointed a way to the end is something simply mary llous. Out of a muddle of utter confusion, without bottom or any single apparent fact to it, he has shaped in my sight an awful arraignment of the murderer, which he can never escape.

There were no doubts in Mr. Edson's mind, which is thus put on record. And this is what he based his opinion on:

blood disks. The microscope showed that it was all human blood. The reason Dr. Edson was a semi-idiot, of purely criminal instincts, and that the woman had refused his imports nities and that he had then slaughtered her. One of the weaknesses in the chain of evidence against this man is motive.

He is a necoliar being, and from the examination I made of him I do not hesitate to say that he is an inbect, and I am sorry that such a being cannot be made to suffer the full penalty for such a horrible crime. Mr. Edson's grief about the man (on the basis that he is guilty) going free as an idiot is thrown away. And if idiotic tendencies are offered as reason for the crime on the trial, the case for the prosecution will be materially to the public on what he bases his belief regarding the man's semi-ldnocy. He promises to do so at the inques . From a scientific standpoint this will prove interesting, but whether he can bring a jury to his frame of mind is a question. NOT AN IDIOT.

If the truth be known the man is by no means an idior. He is rather keen and intelli-gent. The difficulty in his define so far is 'I would go into court to-more his inability to make himself understood. an idea of his mental calibre.

Until he is produced Frenchy can who accompanied Carrie Brown to the East ferring to hold off until something defin never be convicted. The police theory that Knickle left the hotel and that then Frenchy took his piace and killed the woman, needs Knicklo for substantiation.

Why has Enicle not been found? He has been thoroughly described, and there are several who can identify him. Here is the real ROOMS 31 AND 88 STILL SEALED.

Room 31 in the East River Hotel in which the murder was done is still forbidden ground, It is locked and sealed as well as room 33, opposite, which the accused occupied the night of the murder. It is kept scaled by the police for the purpose, as was learned this morning, of keeping out intruders until a Coroner's jury is impai elled at the inquest next Monday. TO BE VIEWED NEXT MONDAY.

The jury will be taken to the scene of the tragedy in order to get a better impression of the theory on which Inspector Byrnes agures out Frenchy's guitt. This theory is that the man who accompanied

Carrie Brown to room 31 remained only a short then crossed over from his room to Carrie leath, and then slashed and cut her to pieces Inspector Byrnes claims to have found trace of blood in the hallway and on Frenchy's tockings, which he accounts for by assuming that if Frenchy is the murderer he spill of his victim's blood in the hall while crossing t in his stocking feet and stepped into it.

This is merely a theory, and some peop offer another theory, to wit; That Carrie Brown's companion, if he killed her, apilied blood on the floor, and that Frenchy soiled his stockings while passing from his room through the ball to go to the lavatory. The bloody spots on the floor, wall, carpe and mattress have been cut out and are now held as evidence at Police Headquarters. How big they are and how recent their origin will il depend on the proof the Chief Inspector oan adduce.

Blood was also found on Frenchy's shirt and under his finger natis. Frenchy says the blood on his shirt was not Carrie Brown's, and accounts for its presence there on reasonable

The judges scented a joo in the second race and they instituted an investigation. Cullen was posted as the rider o Missive, but the judges refused to let him ride. Then John Callainan, the trainer of Mis-live, said he would rise the horse at forty pounds overweight, but the official refused to allow aim to do so. Finally Mr. J. C. Carr declared all bets off, and put Lambley on the horse.

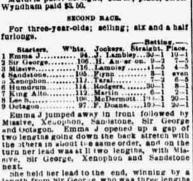

Missive in the new books opened favorite. Sandatone was a strong second choice and Xenophon was also well backed.

The winner, however, turned up in Emma J., who was well photed by Jimmy Lambley, who got away in front and landed olds of 50 to 1. Sir George was second and Missive third.
